International Dateline Hotel

Tonga's leading hotel with 136 rooms – 60 of which were opened in mid 2003.

The International Dateline Hotel has been Tonga's flagship hotel since it opened in 1967 as part of the celebrations for King Taufa'ahau Tupou IV's coronation. In 2003, as part of the King's 86th birthday celebrations, he opened the new wing of the hotel which brought 60 new rooms into the tourism infrastructure.

The hotel has:

- new restaurants
- new lobby
- new entertainment area and the program to completely refurbish all other rooms is underway.

The favourite swimming pool area and the Snack Bar is operating as normal. All 136 rooms have:

- air conditioning
- private facilities
- coffee-making facilities
- mini bar
- direct dial local and international telephones
- music
- sea views

The Villa Guest Lodge

The Villa, formerly known as Villa McKenzie, is one of Tonga's leading guest houses and you will find it on Nuku'alofa's popular waterfront esplanade of Vuna Road. This long established business is run by New Zealanders who seem to have the goal in life of making customers happy.

The Villa currently has five bedrooms, each with queen size bed and ensuite bathroom facilities, ceiling fans, air conditioning and daily room service. All bedrooms have a large workdesk with IDD telephone and laptop/internet connection. Same day laundry service is available and free use of beach towels. There is a lovely large living space for guests to share and view cable TV, listen to our extensive music collection or relax with a book from our small library.

Waterfront Lodge

This lodge - opened in December 2003 - gave an added boost to the Tonga tourism industry.

Colonial style architecture is at its best with the construction of the new Waterfront Lodge in Nuku'alofa. Wide verandas overlook the harbour and the popular Vuna Road.

There are eight rooms over the top of the Waterfront restaurant and bar. The Waterfront has been a popular place with locals and visitors for years and the Lodge has been a great success from its opening day.
