September 2006 to Present Office of communication (Ofcom)
Senior Financial analyst – competition finance

Having joined Ofcom in 2006 I commenced a NGN commercial framework project focusing on the possible implications the implementation of a NGN would have on the current commercial telecommunications environment.

The scope of this project extended to examining our current regulatory approach and modelling techniques with a view to identify possible future changes that may be necessary

In addition to this I have worked on various policy projects within Ofcom and a comprehensive investigation into BT's broadband pricing strategy.
