

Christopher Kemei
Assistant Director: Licensing & Compliance
Communications Commission of Kenya (CCK)

Christopher has over thirteen years of professional experience in the Telecommunications field. He holds an MSc degree in Telecommunications from Coventry University, School of Engineering, UK and a BSc. from University of Nairobi.

He has been with Communications Commission of Kenya since inception in 1999 and has been instrumental in developing universal service policies and arrangements. Subsequently he was appointed in charge of telecommunications licensing & compliance functions in 2001.

He was involved in developing the most comprehensive telecommunications market structure in 2001 used during the exclusivity period. He was also instrumental in developing the current post-exclusivity unified market structure and licensing framework which promises to transform the landscape of the Kenyan telecoms market.

Before joining CCK Christopher was involved in the management of all international telecommunications services offered by the defunct KP&TC. He was also instrumental in formulating policy guidelines on issues pertaining to accounting and settlement rates for international services.
