

The application of satellite broadband service in China

Shi Yongxin

ABSTRACT:

While there is still difference compared with the developed countries, Broadband Access (BA) has made progress in China and will play important role in current information society. However, because the BA development is not uniform in different regions of China, there are difficulties to deploy the BA exclusively on terrestrial transmission method. In this regard, BA through satellite is an alternative way to remove digital divide.