

Presentation Abstract: Sachin Bhatmuley

Director, Global Business Development

QUALCOMM Incorporated

sachinb@qualcomm.com

Title: IMT-2000 networks delivering BWA

Short Bio:

Sachin Bhatmuley is a Director of Global Business Development at QUALCOMM, responsible for sub-Saharan Africa. He actively works with the operators, governments and decision-makers in the region to enable successful deployment and growth of 3G CDMA systems. Sachin joined QUALCOMM in 1996 and has served in various engineering, product management and business development roles. He has been involved in network planning, optimization, new product introduction and marketing activities for the past 12 years. Prior to joining QUALCOMM, Sachin was responsible for network design and network performance improvement initiatives at Ericsson and LCC. Sachin has also served as a consultant with Cap Gemini Ernst & Young in its software practice.

Sachin holds BE (Bachelor of Engineering), MSEE, and MBA degrees from Marathwada (India), Cleveland State and San Diego State Universities, respectively.