

Biography

Péter Vári currently holds the position of digital switchover project manager, inside Antenna Hungária. Previously he worked as Senior Government Advisor at Prime Minister's Office. He was responsible for the Project on Digital Switchover (National Strategy on Digital Switchover, Act on Digital Switchover, other regulatory implications). He participated in the Project on National Audiovisual Media Strategy (National Strategy on Audiovisual Media, drafting a new proposal on the Hungarian Media Act. He received his technical diploma degree in telecommunications from Technical University of Budapest in 1994, after it he graduated from Economic University of Budapest in 2001 and University of Eötvös Lóránd, (Faculty of Laws) in 2003. He is a PhD student on University of Pécs, his specialization is digital television.