

Biography – Dr. Kevin A. Hughes

Kevin Hughes has been with the ITU Radiocommunication Bureau (formerly CCIR) since 1984. He was initially the Counsellor responsible for the ITU-R Study Groups dealing with radiowave propagation and in 2002, was appointed Head of the Radiocommunication Study Group Department.

Prior to joining ITU, he was with the radio regulatory department of the UK Administration where he was involved in various aspects of spectrum management, in particular radiowave propagation.

Dr Hughes is a graduate of the Universities of Exeter and Wales. He holds a Ph.D. in ionospheric physics and is a member of the Institution of Engineering and Technology (IET).