

Session 3

Spectrum Refarming

Refarming is a central part of spectrum management activities. Various refarming tools can be employed by spectrum managers. Both theoretical aspects and practical instruments of refarming will broadly be presented. Finally, an introduction to experiences within European countries and an indication in which direction this issue will develop will be provided.