Os detalhes financeiros da aquisição não foram divulgados, mas sabe-se que a Google terá resgatado um total de 15 milhões de dólares em financiamento de risco, em duas tranches, revela a imprensa norte-americana. Stackdriver foi lançado em 2012 e ajuda os gestores informáticos a monitorizarem tanto os aplicativos como os serviços construídos e executados em cloud. Permite também aos usuários monitorizarem as suas aplicações, automatizarem algumas das DevOps (software de desenvolvimento) e ver estatísticas detalhadas. De acordo com a empresa de Mountain View, a equipe Stackdriver incidirá o seu trabalho na integração de seus serviços com a plataforma Google Cloud, "para que os clientes possam aproveitar esses novos recursos avançados de monitorização.
