

Here's a brief profile:

"Muhammad Ali Iqbal is amongst one of the very few ICT professionals who have been working in solving social problems using digital means in all three: academia, research, and industry. He currently works at IGNITE (formerly National ICT R&D Fund), a premier National Technology Fund as General Manager Solicitation and Evaluation. Mr. Ali brings with him over 17 years' experience in Project Management, Research and Business development, Teaching and Training with a record of high achievement in both technical and functional roles. Mr. Ali is working on different digital inclusion projects related to SDGs focusing on health, food security, education and innovation.

Mr. Ali is a certified HL7 professional and has an MS in Computer Engineering."