

Jimena Luna

Global AI Policy Lead for Lenovo

Jimena Luna is the Global AI Policy Lead for Lenovo based in Washington D.C. Jimena brings 15+ years of experience working with The World Bank Group, The White House (Office of the Federal CIO), and the private sector at the intersection of technology policy, economic development, and global affairs in EMEA, LATAM, and North America. Her policy areas of expertise include AI, emerging technologies, and digital development.

At Lenovo, Jimena leads AI policy engagements with policymakers, regulators, academics, and international institutions—connecting the dots between AI regulations and business priorities. She is responsible for high-level commitments with institutions and governments, as well as building the company's global thought leadership on AI.

She holds a B.A. in International Relations from Boston University and a M.A. in International Economics from the Aix-Marseille School of Economics (France), with recent studies in artificial intelligence at the University of Oxford and The London School of Economics. Jimena is fluent in English, French, Spanish, and conversational Italian.
