

Joan Joseph Moses

Teacher, Roosevelt Douglas Primary School

I am a passionate educator at the Roosevelt Douglas Primary School in Portsmouth, Dominica, with 16 years of experience in the education sector. Currently, I am pursuing a bachelor's degree in Leadership and Management at the University of the West Indies, which allows me to refine my teaching methods and create enriching learning experiences for my students. I firmly believe that every student has the potential to succeed, and I actively engage in all aspects of school life to foster a nurturing environment where each child can thrive. My goal is to inspire others as a teacher influencer, sharing innovative strategies and resources with fellow educators.

As a mother of two, my children motivate me to grow both personally and professionally, reminding me of the importance of adaptability and empathy in teaching. I am dedicated to instilling a love of learning in my students, particularly in language arts and technology, as I recognize the crucial role these subjects play in today's world.

Beyond the classroom, I have a deep passion for herbal medicine and am currently working on a local herbal book that highlights the benefits of indigenous plants. Photography is another interest of mine, allowing me to capture and share the beauty of our surroundings. Additionally, I am actively involved in community volunteer efforts, believing that giving back enriches both my life and the lives of those around me. My commitment to lifelong learning drives me to continuously seek new knowledge and skills that will empower me to better serve my students and community.