Dr. Robert Muggah

Co-founder, Igarapé Institute

Dr. Robert Muggah specializes in security, cities, migration, climate, and new technologies. He co-founded the Igarapé Institute – ranked the top social policy think tank in the world in 2019 – and the SecDev Group – devoted to strengthening cyber security and digital resilience. He also co-founded Bioverse, a forest intelligence firm, and advises a number of companies and funds. Robert has led the design, development and deployment of multiple digital platforms and systems in the Americas, Africa, and Asia. Between 2022-2024 he coordinated a Global Task Force on Predictive Analytics to improve AI safety and alignment in the Global South. A three-time TED speaker and columnist with the Agenda, Conversation, Foreign Policy, he also serves as a fellow at the Bosch Foundation (Germany), Graduate Institute (Switzerland), Princeton University (US), Singularity University (US) and the WEF (Switzerland). He received a DPhil from the University of Oxford.