

Ole Garpestad

Ole Garpestad is Vice President of the International Amateur Radio Union. He was previously a member of the IARU Region 1 executive committee (1999-2009) and President of IARU Region 1 (2002-2009) before being elected as Vice President of IARU in 2009. Ole served with the IARU Norwegian member society, the Norwegian Radio Relay League, from 1992 and was NRRL President for the 2000-2002 term. Ole has represented IARU at a number of ITU meetings since 1999. He has held a Norwegian amateur license (LA2RR) since 1973.

Professionally, Ole is an electronics engineer with a major defence firm. He holds a M. Sc. in Electronic Engineering, Radio Technology, from Technical University of Norway (NTH), Trondheim, Norway.