HELPING THE WORLD COMMUNICATE

traces the history of the World Summit on the Information Society up to the Geneva phase. It conveys the ambience of the Summit itself along with related events such as press conferences and the ICT4D Platform. The book is prefaced with a message from UN Secretary-General Kofi Annan and a foreword by Mr Yoshio Utsumi, ITU Secretary-General, and contains statements from the Opening Ceremony as well as the WSIS documents: The Declaration of Principles and Plan of Action. The 152-page book is illustrated with 138 colour photographs. A picture gallery includes Heads of State and Government who attended the Summit along with other highlevel dignitaries and participants.
