Tamara has more data and time to research marine wildlife

Using satellite observations, open data and machine learning, computers can now extract information from images to track marine wildlife. This enables scientists like Tamara to analyse and interpret the larger data-sets and increase our understanding of the oceans and marine life.

Want to know how ICTs can deepen our knowledge?

ITU

fast forward together
#ICT4SDG

14 LIFE BELOW WATER