

Andrejs Dombrovskis

Andrejs Dombrovskis, M.oec., is an expert at Telecommunications and Postal Department of Sabiedrisko pakalpojumu regulesanas komisija (Public Utilities Commission) since 2001. He has worked for national competition authority the Competition Council from 1997 to 2001. Mr Dombrovskis has participated in drafting of national policy for electronic communications as well as a number of legislative acts regulating electronic communications market. He is Latvia representative to a number of international expert organisations.