

Note by Administration

Since the satellite network is not equipped with any propulsion system for orbit maintenance, once deployed into orbit it will gradually descend under natural forces and continue operations down to an orbital altitude of 300 km. As the orbital altitude decreases, the transmission power will be adjusted to ensure compliance with the PFD limits specified in the RR Table 21-4.