ADD* - Proposal to add existing text from elsewhere.

Note: It is necessary to reproduce the texts carrying the symbol ADD.*

MOD - Proposal to modify an existing provision - (modify), i.e. adding, deleting or replacing words or figures.

Note: To modify the text, "track changes" should be turned on (Deleted text should appear as strikethrough and added text should appear as underlined).

(MOD) – Proposal to amend a text, from an editorial point of view only

Note: To modify the text, "track changes" should be turned on (Deleted text should appear as strikethrough and added text should appear as underlined).

Types of change: actions (2)

- SUP - Propose to delete a provision - (suppress). To be used only at the provision level, as is the case with ADD.
Note 1: It is not necessary to reproduce text carrying the symbol SUP.
Note 2: Where text is to be deleted from within a provision, the symbol MOD should be used.
- SUP - Proposal to transfer text elsewhere
Note: It is not necessary to reproduce text carrying the symbol SUP.
- NOC - Text for which no change is proposed. This symbol may be used to clarify that no proposals are made with respect to a particular text.
Note: It is not necessary to reproduce text carrying this symbol.
- NOC - Proposal for text to be maintained without change. This symbol may be used together with a proposal number to emphasize that a particular provision or provisions should remain unchanged. Normally the reasons should be provided.

RESOLUTION 1 (REV. DUBAI, 2014)

Rules of procedure of the ITU Telecommunication Development Sector

MOD SUI/4037/1

SECTION 2 – Study groups and their relevant groups

2 Classification of study groups and their relevant groups

2.1 The World Telecommunication Development Conference (WTDC) establishes study groups, each studying telecommunication matters of interest to the developing countries in particular, including the issues referred to in No. 211 of the ITU Convention. Study groups shall observe strictly Nos 214, 215, 215A and 215B of the Convention.

2.2 To facilitate their work, the study groups may set up working parties, rapporteur's groups and joint rapporteur's groups to deal with specific Questions or parts of thereof.

2.3 Where appropriate, regional groups may be set up within the study groups to study Questions or problems, the specific nature of which makes it desirable that they be studied within the framework of one or more regions of the Union.

2.4 The establishment of regional groups should not give rise to duplication of work being carried out at the global level by the corresponding study groups, their relevant groups or any other groups established pursuant to No. 209A of the Convention.

2.5 Joint rapporteur's groups (JRG) may be established for Questions requiring the participation of experts from more than one study group. Unless otherwise specified, the working methods of JRGs should be identical to those of rapporteur groups. At the time a JRG is established, its terms of reference, reporting lines and final decision-making authority should be clearly identified.

3 Chairmen and vice-chairmen

3.1 Appointment of chairmen and vice-chairmen by WTDC shall be primarily based upon proven competence both in matters considered by the study group concerned and in terms of the management skills required, taking into account the need to promote gender balance in leadership positions and equitable geographical distribution, in particular promoting the participation of developing countries through Member States and Sector Members.

3.2 The mandate of the vice-chairmen shall be to assist the chairman in matters relating to the management of the study group, including substitution for the chairman at official ITU Telecommunication Development Sector (ITU-D) meetings or replacement of the chairman should he or she be unable to continue with study group duties.

3.3 Study group vice-chairmen may in turn be selected as chairmen of working parties or as rapporteurs, with the sole limitation that they may not occupy more than two posts at the same time in the study period.

The work programme set out below to guide the activities related to Question 4/1 covers:

- identification of active collaborators;
- expected outputs of the Question;
