

Dr Osianoh Glenn Ali, Defutech

Born in Lagos, Nigeria, Glenn is an expert in mobile and satellite communication systems. As part of the Network Research Department at the Fraunhofer Institute, he was actively involved in the development of WiBACK technology and currently leads the global adoption of the technology. With first hand childhood stories about the importance of affordable and meaningful internet connectivity in underserved areas, he appreciates the impact connectivity solutions can have on people and communities. He is the Managing partner and cofounder of DeFuTech in Germany.