

Gökhan works as a Senior Policy Manager in Access Partnership. Prior to that, Gökhan worked with the Information and Communication Technologies Authority of Türkiye for nine years. There, he specialised on internet governance and digital transformation issues. He acted as a representative of Turkey before various international organisations such as International Telecommunication Union and organised the 9th United Nations Internet Governance Forum at İstanbul. He also led 5G efforts by establishing 5GTR Forum which led to 5G and Beyond Strategy and the first 5G testbed in Turkey.

He holds an MSc in Governance of Media and Communications from London School of Economics and Political Science; an MA on Human Rights from Ankara University, and a BA degree on Political Science and International Relations from Boğaziçi University in İstanbul.