

SUNIL KUMAR SINGHAL
Deputy Director General (AS),
Department of Telecommunication, INDIA

Shri Sunil Kumar Singhal, presently serving as Deputy Director General, Department of Telecommunication, Government of India has more than 29 years of experience in telecommunication and broadcasting sectors.

In his present capacity he is dealing with policy, law and regulatory framework, issuing licenses for telecommunication services, and administering National Numbering Plan. Prior to this, Shri Singhal has served in various capacities in Department of Telecommunication and Telecommunication Regulatory Authority of India. He has more than 13 years of experience of handling the policy, licensing, and regulatory issues relating to Telecommunication and Broadcasting Services. During the last decade, he played an instrumental role in formulation of National Digital Communication Policy, reviewing the policy framework for proliferation of broadband services, addressing the challenges in proliferation of telecommunication infrastructure, expansion of FM radio broadcasting services, and digitization of the Cable TV networks in the country.

He has varied experience of policy formulation, licensing, regulation, strategy, planning, operations and management of telecommunication and broadcasting sectors. He is a regular speaker on various industry forums, and domestic as well as international conferences.