

FARID NAKHLI

Farid Nakhli received his Master of technical sciences degree in the Belarusian State University of Informatics and Radioelectronics in 2009.

From 2008 to 2015 Farid worked in the system of the Ministry of Communication and Informatization of the Republic of Belarus managing projects on nation-wide ICT strategy and policy analysis, monitoring of ICT infrastructure and e-government development, regulation and standardisation, and development of relevant software.

In 2015 he joined the Corporate Strategy Division of the International Telecommunication Union (ITU) as Planning and Management Consultant. Since 2016 Farid works as Programme Coordinator at the ITU Regional Office for CIS based in Moscow, where his responsibilities include strategic advice on digital infrastructure, cybersecurity, digital transformation of major industries, ICT statistics, and management of ICT development projects, organization of regional events and trainings and engagement of key stakeholders in the CIS region.

Recognized profession credentials include:

- CCNP (Cisco certified network professional) – 2012
- PMP (Project management professional) – 2014

Speaks Russian, English, French and Belarusian.