

GUO-QING LI

Mr. Guo-qing LI, Professor Senior Engineer of China CAICT, focused on EMC, EMF, RF, Antenna etc. He has gotten the Bachelor of Physics from BNU in 2001, and the Master of Electromagnetic field and microwave technology from BUPT in 2004. He is the committee member of IEC TC106, IEC TC77, IEEE SC34, China SAC TC246, and deputy team leader of China CCSA TC9 WG3, whose research is focused on EMF and safety. He has worked as the technology secretary of the base-station EME evaluation technical team of the inter-ministry joint working group between MIIT and MEE of China, and responsible for drafting the base-station EME evaluation administration documents, files, memorandum, organizing the meeting and social activities such as investigate & survey, propaganda, inspection, training etc. He has been responsible for 13 international and national standards and patents and 11 papers related to EMF.