

Zoe Hamilton is a Senior Research Manager on GSMA's Mobile for Humanitarian Innovation team, where she focuses on issues related to disaster resilience, digital risks, and inclusive technology. She has also worked as a Fulbright Scholar in India, a UNFPA researcher, and an independent documentary filmmaker. Zoe holds a MSc in International Development Management from the London School of Economics and a BA (Hons) from Middlebury College in Political Science and French.