

Ms. Patricia Candia, Engineer, Conatel Paraguay

Patricia Candia is an experienced professional with a strong background in both engineering and law. She holds a master's degree in strategic Telecommunications Management from UNINI Mexico and a Master's in Public Governance and Management from Universidad Americana, Paraguay. With a degree in Computer Engineering and a Law degree, Patricia has held various key roles at the Comision Nacional de Telecomunicaciones (CONATEL) in Paraguay, contributing to regulatory compliance, technical analysis, and project management. Her expertise spans software development, telecommunications regulation, and capacity building, alongside a passion for teaching, having served as a professor at Universidad del Norte. Patricia is fluent in Spanish and has advanced proficiency in English, making her a versatile professional in her field.