Session 1
Ms Inmaculada Placencia Porrero, EU accessibility expert involved in the European Accessibility Act, European Commission/ European Union ● Onsite participation ● Email: tb-crpd-inmaculada.placencia@un.org 	Inmaculada Placencia Porrero is an internationally recognized leader in accessibility and disability rights, with more than three decades of experience shaping European and international policies to advance equal rights, accessibility and the full participation of persons with disabilities in the society increasingly shaped by Information and Communication Technologies (ICTs). Throughout her career at the European Commission, she played a leading role in developing the European Disability Strategy, advancing the implementation of the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD) within the European Union, and championing accessibility as a key enabler of inclusive digital transformation. She was the architect of the landmark European Accessibility Act and subsequently led its implementation, together with the related European accessibility standards, establishing one of the world's most comprehensive legislative frameworks to ensure equal access to products and services for all people including those with disabilities. Since January 2025, she has also served as a member of the United Nations Committee on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD Committee). With a background in Physics and Computer Science, she brings a unique combination of technical expertise and policy leadership to advancing accessibility as a fundamental pillar of inclusion and consumer empowerment.
Ms Elizabeth Roberts, Ofcom, United Kingdom ● Onsite participation ● Email:Elizabeth.Roberts@ofcom.org.uk	Elizabeth is a Policy Manager at Ofcom. Her work focuses primarily on consumer protection and competition in telecoms markets. Recently, she has led work on issues including the migration to voice over IP, reforms to make broadband switching easier, and the impact of AI on telecoms customers' experience.

Ms Sandra Maximiano，Chair of the Board of Directors, ANACOM, Portugal ● Online participation ● Email: pca@anacom.pt 	Sandra Maximiano has been Chairwoman of ANACOM's Board of Directors since December 2023. She holds a PhD in Economics from the University of Amsterdam and is an Associate Professor of Economics at ISEG – School of Economics and Management, University of Lisbon, where she co-coordinates XLAB – Behavioral Research Lab and the Master's Degree in Economics. She has built a distinguished academic career with a particular focus on behavioural economics and its implications for public policy and regulation. Her research covers experimental and behavioural economics, labour and organisational economics, information management and public policy, with particular emphasis on decision-making, social and moral preferences, information in competitive and cooperative settings, and gender differences in economic behaviour. Her work has been published in leading international journals, including Review of Economic Studies, The Economic Journal, Experimental Economics, and Games and Economic Behavior.
Mr Alexandre Kehrig Veronese Aguiar，Associate Professor of Social and Legal Theory at the University of Brasília School of Law, Brazil ● Online participation ● Email: veronese@ccom.unb.br	Dr. Alexandre Veronese is an Associate Professor of Social and Legal Theory at the University of Brasília's Faculty of Law. He coordinates the Research Team on Telecommunications Law and is a member of the Centre for Public Policies, Law, Economics and Technologies of Communication at the same university. In addition, he is a permanent collaborator at the Jean Monnet Centre of Excellence for Digital Citizenship and Technological sustainability of the University of Minho (Portugal). He usually collaborates with research projects to improve regulation in Latin America, specifically in the areas of Telecommunications, Data, and Consumer Protection. He holds a Ph.D. in Sociology from the Institute of Social and Political Studies of the State University of Rio de Janeiro.

Session 2
Mr Kiho Jeong, Director of the Digital Inclusion Planning Team, National Information Society Agency (NIA) Republic of Korea ● Onsite participation ● Email: hoya@nia.or.kr 	Kiho Jeong brings nearly twenty years of experience in AI policy, digital inclusion, and global ICT cooperation at South Korea’s National Information Society Agency (NIA). His career includes key roles in national initiatives, including shaping the agenda for the 2nd AI Safety Summit, launching the Open Ko-LLM Leaderboard, and managing international IT Cooperation Centers. As Director of the Digital Inclusion Planning Team, he develops inclusive digital literacy policies and technology frameworks. He was also deeply involved in the enactment of Korea’s Digital Inclusion Act which took effect in January 2026 and is contributing to the development of its forthcoming national master plan. A recipient of the Prime Minister’s Commendation for advancing digital equity, he is committed to responsible AI governance and bridging the global digital divide.
Ms Lidia Best, President, European Federation of Hard of Hearing People ● Onsite participation ● Email: best-nadp@hotmail.co.uk	Lidia Best is President of the European Federation of Hard of Hearing People (EFHOH) and Chair of Joint Coordination Activity on Accessibility and Human Factors at ITU. Lidia puts her energy and focus on accessibility, raising standards, policy development, innovation, and empowerment of persons with disabilities. A cochlear-implant user and global accessibility expert, she has authored and co-authored key reports shaping policy, standards and inclusive technology for people who are hard of hearing.

Mr Carl Gahnberg, Senior Director of Policy Development and Research, Internet Society ● Onsite participation ● Email: gahnberg@isoc.org 	Carl Gahnberg is Director of Policy Development and Research at the Internet Society, where I focus on issues related to Internet governance. In this role, I contribute to the organization's global policy development, research, and its partnerships with international and regional organizations, engaging with global policy makers and non-governmental stakeholders on key Internet issues. Carl Gahnberg holds a PhD in International Relations from the Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies, Geneva, as well as Bachelor Degrees in Political Science and Economics from Lund University.
Mr Xiaodong Lee, Founder of Fuxi Institution and Vice Chairman of the Internet Society of China ● Online participation ● Email: XL@fxzk.org 	Dr. Xiaodong Lee is the Founder and CEO of Fuxi Institution and a Professor at the Chinese Academy of Sciences. He is the former President of CNNIC and former Vice President of ICANN. He founded Fuxi Institution in 2019 to advance Internet innovation and digital development. He led the R&D of the Chinese domain name system and integrated ".China" into the global DNS root zone. As a member of the IANA Stewardship Transition Coordination Group, he contributed to the transition of IANA stewardship to the global community. He helped organize the World Internet Conference and served on its High-level Advisory Council. He received the China Youth Medal and was named a Young Global Leader by the World Economic Forum.