

RASHED MOHAMED KHALIFA

Rashed Mohamed Khalifa is Chief of the Audit and Compliance Section within the Cyber Governance Department at the National Cyber Security Center (NCSC), Kingdom of Bahrain. He oversees cybersecurity assurance across government entities and Critical National Infrastructure (CNI) sectors and works with sector regulators to support the implementation and assessment of national cybersecurity requirements.

At the NCSC, Rashed has contributed to several national cybersecurity initiatives, including the development of Bahrain's National Cybersecurity Maturity Framework, baseline cybersecurity controls for small and medium enterprises (SMEs), and cybersecurity compliance and assessment initiatives for government entities and CNI sectors. He also contributed to the development of Bahrain's National Cybersecurity Strategy 2025–2028.

Before joining the NCSC, Rashed spent fourteen years at the Ministry of Interior, where he served as Chief of IT Operations. He holds a BSc in Information Technology from the University of Bahrain and several professional cybersecurity certifications, including a recent SANS certification focused on the Implementing and Auditing CIS Critical Security Controls.