With her recognised expertise and unwavering commitment to international cooperation in radiocommunications, the Kingdom of Morocco is pleased to present the candidacy of Ms Sana Zaïri for the post of member of the Radio Regulations Board (RRB) for the African region (Region D), at the ITU Plenipotentiary Conference 2026.

A graduate Telecom Engineer of the National Institute of Posts and Telecommunications, Ms Zaïri has nearly three decades of experience in the management, planning and regulation of the radio-frequency spectrum. Since 2005, she has served as Head of Frequency Spectrum Planning at the National Telecommunications Regulatory Agency (ANRT), where she plays a central role in developing and updating the National Frequency Plan, as well as supporting the deployment of mobile technologies.

Her career is notable for her consistent and active participation in world radiocommunication conferences (WRCs) since 2000, as well as in regional and interregional preparatory activities. She has contributed to the work of ITU-R, notably serving as Vice-Chair of Study Group 1, a position to which she was re-elected, demonstrating the trust placed in her expertise and leadership capabilities.

Recognized for her rigour, sense of fairness and ability to reconcile diverse interests, Ms Zaïri possesses extensive knowledge of the Radio Regulations, international coordination procedures and the work of the Radiocommunication Bureau.

Her professional experience, long-standing association with ITU and personal qualities are evidence that Ms Zaïri will undertake to contribute actively and equitably to the work of the RRB, in the interests of all Member States and in support of the harmonious development of radiocommunications worldwide.

In a world that is undergoing fundamental changes, marked by rapid and continuous technological advancement, access to the radio-frequency spectrum and satellite orbits is critical to achieving universal, inclusive connectivity that is accessible to all peoples across all regions of the world. In the digital age, the harmonious use of these two resources paves the way for innovative connectivity solutions and enables the deployment of new systems and technologies.

It is in this context that the Kingdom of Morocco reaffirms its commitment to contributing actively and sustainably to international bodies, particularly within ITU, and to playing a constructive role in the various sectors of ITU, notably within the RRB.
