*Inmarsat: Restructuring and change of legal status

The Administration of the United Kingdom announces, on behalf of Inmarsat Ltd., London, that on 15 April 1999, Inmarsat, the global mobile satellite communications provider, became the first intergovernmental organization to transition to a private company.

The new company, which will be located in London, will be governed by initially a 14-member fiduciary Board of Directors: the Chief Executive Officer and 13 non-executive directors, three of which will represent developing countries.

The new structure comprises two entities: a two-tier private company (Inmarsat Holdings and Inmarsat Ltd.), that will seek an initial public offering (IPO) within approximately two years of formation; and an intergovernmental body, called the International Mobile Satellite Organization (IMSO), to oversee Inmarsat's delivery of its public service obligations, including the Global Maritime Distress and Safety System (GMDSS).

Inmarsat Ltd., has been recognized by the Administration of the United Kingdom as a recognized operating agency (ROA), in accordance with Article 6 of the ITU Constitution and Nos. 1007 and 1008 of the Annex to the ITU Constitution as incorporated in the Final Acts of the Additional Plenipotentiary Conference (Geneva, 1992).

Established in 1979 to serve the maritime community, Inmarsat has since evolved to become the only provider of a broad range of global mobile satellite communications for distress and safety communications, as well as communications for commercial applications at sea, in the air, and on land.
