

Filipe Miguel Antunes Batista, born in 1972, Lisbon, Portugal. Head of Cooperation and Development Office at the Portuguese Communications Authority (ANACOM) and Secretary General of ARCTEL-CPLP, since 2008. Leadership Program at Católica Lisbon School of Business & Economics 2014. Post-graduate in “European Union Foreign Affairs” at Faculdade de Direito da Universidade de Lisboa (FDUL 2006); Master in Development and International Cooperation at Instituto Superior de Economia e Gestao-ISEG, “The Economic and Social Impact of E-Commerce in Portugal, 2004; Post-graduate in International Relations at Instituto de Ciencias Sociais e Politicas-ISCPS, 1996-1997 and Degree in International Relations, Universidade Lusiana de Lisboa, 1992-1996. Lectured International Relations and Cooperation Politics at Universidade Independente de Lisboa from 2000 to 2005.

ARCTEL-CPLP - Association of Communications and Telecommunications Regulators of the Community of Portuguese Speaking Countries, created in October 2008 with the aim of enhance innovation and the development of communications within CPLP. In order to stimulate the Lusophone Markets and create platforms for convergence between the various stakeholders, ARCTEL promotes the CPLP Communications Forum, alongside with a Technological. In complement ARCTEL publishes an annual outlook of the sector as well as daily newsletters with the most relevant ICT news worldwide as well as from CPLP. In complement ARCTEL offers an online indicators tool with the most relevant sector data from all members.