

Jaume Salvat

Mr Jaume Salvat is Founder and Partner of Salvat Consultors and Aggaros, a technical and business consultancy firms specialized in Telecommunications and Information Systems. In this position, he has led several project in the MENA region, Europe, Asia, and Latin America related to the development of networks and broadband services, transformation of organization, processes and systems, policy and regulation, and strategic planning, development and implementation of SMART strategies and services in territories and vertical economic sectors.

From April 2006 to March 2013, Mr Salvat was the CEO of Andorra Telecom and the Andorran Regulator. Mr Salvat is a Telecommunications Engineer with over 30 years of experience in the telecommunications industry, and extensive experience in different telecom operators. He has held executive positions in Strategic Planning, Sales, Network Technology, Engineering, Planning, Implementation, Operation and Maintenance. As a consultant he was very active in projects and technical regional governments, municipalities and private telecommunications operators regarding strategic, business and organizational aspects