

H.E. Moe Chakrya

Chairman

Telecommunication Regulator of Cambodia (TRC)
Kingdom of Cambodia

With more than 20 years' experience in telecommunication industry, H.E. Moe Chakrya has worked in various facets of telecommunications including the technical, policy and regulatory aspects.

During his tenure in telecommunication from 1994, he endeavored and led through several positions in the Ministry of Posts and Telecommunications at Office level, Department level and Directorate-General level, where he was recognized as a co-founder to bring the first internet connectivity to Cambodia and an important role-playing contributor for telecommunication sector reform and liberalization in Cambodia. With his joint effort, it was later seen the establishment of Telecom Cambodia as a state enterprise and the development of its fixed services to compete in the market.

Internationally, H.E. Moe Chakrya was invited to speak and moderate in various global and regional conferences and workshops. He was also given the chairmanship role of the ASEAN Telecommunications Regulators Council's (ATRC) in 2010.

H.E. Moe Chakrya graduated from the university in Germany with the Diploma Engineer, Master Degree in Telecommunication.