services for national administrations

Year(s) of implementation: 2019

Background

In the European region, there is a number of relatively small countries that have no special potential in financial support to other countries but they have sufficient knowledge to share- as mentioned it is one form of in-kind contribution. The Czech Republic belongs to such countries.

The Ministry of Industry and Trade prepared a serie of seminars on practical aspects of deployment of the Artificial Intelligence. Therefore, the Czech Republic would like to offer one of those seminars to the interest and attendance of our European colleagues. The seminar is called "Support and Development of Technological Start-Ups" in the frame of the overall topic "Challenges of the Digital Economy for the Society". We already have some good examples to show.

Proposal

The Ministry of Industry and Trade offers for participation the seminar "Support and Development of Technological Start-Ups" that takes place in the premises of the Ministry on 11th December, 2019.
