

Stefanie Frey

Dr. Stefanie Frey has a PhD from the Department of War Studies, King 's College in London and a Master in Business Administration. She worked in several defence and security related projects, as well as in crisis management. As an expert in cyber security she represents Switzerland in several international Organizations, such as the OECD, OSCE and ENISA and has been active in cyber capacity building efforts for developed and developing countries.

She is currently the coordinator for the implementation of the National Cyber Strategy at the Reporting and Analysis Centre for Information Assurance (MELANI), which is located within the Federal Department of Finance.