

Dr. Wang Tan

Mr. Wang Tan is currently an engineer in the Spectrum Engineering Department of State Radio Monitoring Center/State Radio Spectrum Management Center, Ministry of Industry and Information Technology, China. He is mainly engaged in the spectrum planning and allocation, coexistence studies and related evaluations. He holds a Ph.D. degree in broadband wireless communication from the Beijing University of Posts and Telecommunications (BUPT), and published more than 30 papers in International and Domestic Conferences/Magazines. This time he is a volunteer to make the presentation on behalf of AWG to introduce the related activities of CRS.

