

Biography

Mr. Boswell-Inniss has worked in the Telecommunications sector for over 32 years, covering areas such as satellite communications, fibre and copper access networks, project management, switching, network development plans, carrier services negotiations and next generation networks. He is a graduate from the University of the West Indies, with a B.Sc. Degree in Electrical Engineering.

After spending over two decades at the incumbent operator in Trinidad and Tobago, he is currently the Manager, Networks Standards and Facilities at the Telecommunications Authority of Trinidad and Tobago. His current responsibilities include the introduction of service provider Number Portability in the Republic of Trinidad and Tobago.

