

REGIONAL STANDARDIZATION FORUM FOR BRIDGING THE STANDARDIZATION GAP (BSG)

Seoul, Korea (Rep. of), 24 October 2017

With a diverse professional background spanning the public sector, business and academia, Dr Lara Srivastava has been monitoring and analyzing new technologies and their impact on telecom regulation, economics and market structure for some 20 years.

She is a qualified Canadian lawyer, holds a Juris Doctor (JD) in media & telecommunications law (with a focus on convergence and competition), an MSc in Technology Policy (with a focus on digital money) and a PhD in Technology Design and Innovation (with a focus on smart homes). She began her career in the industry at the CRTC (Canada's broadcasting and telecoms regulator). She then worked in telecoms consulting with Analysys Mason. She has had the opportunity to work with the World Bank, as well as with internet start-ups. She has also taught at various universities telecommunications and media law and communications strategies.

At ITU, she was previously senior policy analyst and manager of the organization's first technology foresight programme. She contributed to forums and events such as WTPF, WSIS, ITU Telecom Forum, and acted as secretary to Council and ITU Plenipotentiary PP working groups. In 2013, Lara joined the ITU's Standardization Bureau, where she is currently Head of the Bridging the Standardization Gap Programme, and Counsellor for Economic and Policy Issues' Study Group 3 and its 5 regional groups.
