法定数字货币将弥补欠发达经济体
与发达经济体之间的金融沟壑

DFC will fill the Gap between the developing and developed economies

1.

Theoretically, there exists a huge gap in the financial sector between the developing economies and developed economies. We can call it financial gap (i.e., foreign exchange constraints and savings gap). The gap is the reason and also the result about being developing or developed, but not the solution. In other words, there is no way to fill in the gap in the old way, and even in the old time.

2.

The gap is physical one, but not a digital one. So does with the concept of being the developed and developing economy.

3.

In the digital time, it is hardly to believe that the developed economies will still take the leading position of finance globally and forever. The developing economies and developed ones are sharing the same technology resource now, but it is easier for the developing economy to take a great leap, and then to catch up with the developed economy, especially in area of the inclusive finance.

4.

As to DFC, they are on the same starting point, and the developing economies are much more enthusiastic to take the solid steps by their authorities.

5.

In fact, it is more likely that the developing economies will issue the DFC first.

6.

DEC will fill the financial gap between the developing economy and developed economy.

Thank you all.
