Operators under universal access/service obligation

• None of the above, please explain: Based on regulator assessment of US in 2013 (US status and plan 2013-2016 published in AKEP website), the market is already providing affordable access to telephony services (fixed and mobile), which are affordable and available regardless of geographical location (mobile). So there is no need to designate any operators as US providers. Public payphones are no more relevant (because of mobile access). Directory services are not available yet. Regulator is preparing rules of Directory services in order to have a market based provision of these services. Emergency services are provided free of charge from all operators. Special services to disabled people are provided through government subsidy directly to these people.,
