

IMPACT

INTERNATIONAL MULTILATERAL PARTNERSHIP AGAINST CYBER THREATS

Presented by: Philip Victor (Head, Communications & Outreach)

Topic: Children & Cyberspace: The Need for a Global Approach

Venue: Tokyo, Japan

Date: 3rd June 2009

Content

- About IMPACT
- Issues on Children & Cyberspace
- Global Initiatives
- The Need for a Global Approach
- How IMPACT can operationalise the Global Initiative

Introduction to IMPACT

- Non-profit organisation – funded by grants, contributions etc.
- Focussed on ‘upper end of cyber threats’ – including cyber-terrorism, leakage of confidential information etc.
- International & multilateral in nature – i.e. IMPACT is an international institution. It's members are governments, it's owner are the global community of member-nations.
- Public-private partnership – Private sector & academia are invited as partners to assist member countries secure their IT infrastructure e.g. through partnerships with IMPACT's Global Response Centre. IMPACT is the platform for cooperation between governments of the world and the international private sector.

Issues

Man Accused of Soliciting a Child

A 53-year-old accountant who bragged on the Web about molesting children all over the country, was charged Thursday with three counts of soliciting sex from a child using the Internet, authorities said. Roy Mason, of 2009 Highview Fall Place, was arrested Thursday on an Indiana warrant at his home by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement with help from the Hillsborough County Sheriff's Office, said Mike Duffey, an FDLE computer crimes special agent. Authorities are examining the computer found in Mason's home.

Predator "Shopped" at myspace.com

William Warren Greico, 42, first approached the girl after he saw her posting on myspace.com in August. Billing himself as a man named "Tyler," the Seminole High School English teacher sent his picture to the girl and a message asking if she'd like to be friends. Detectives arranged a sting after Greico suggested that he and the girl meet at an undisclosed location

Global Initiatives

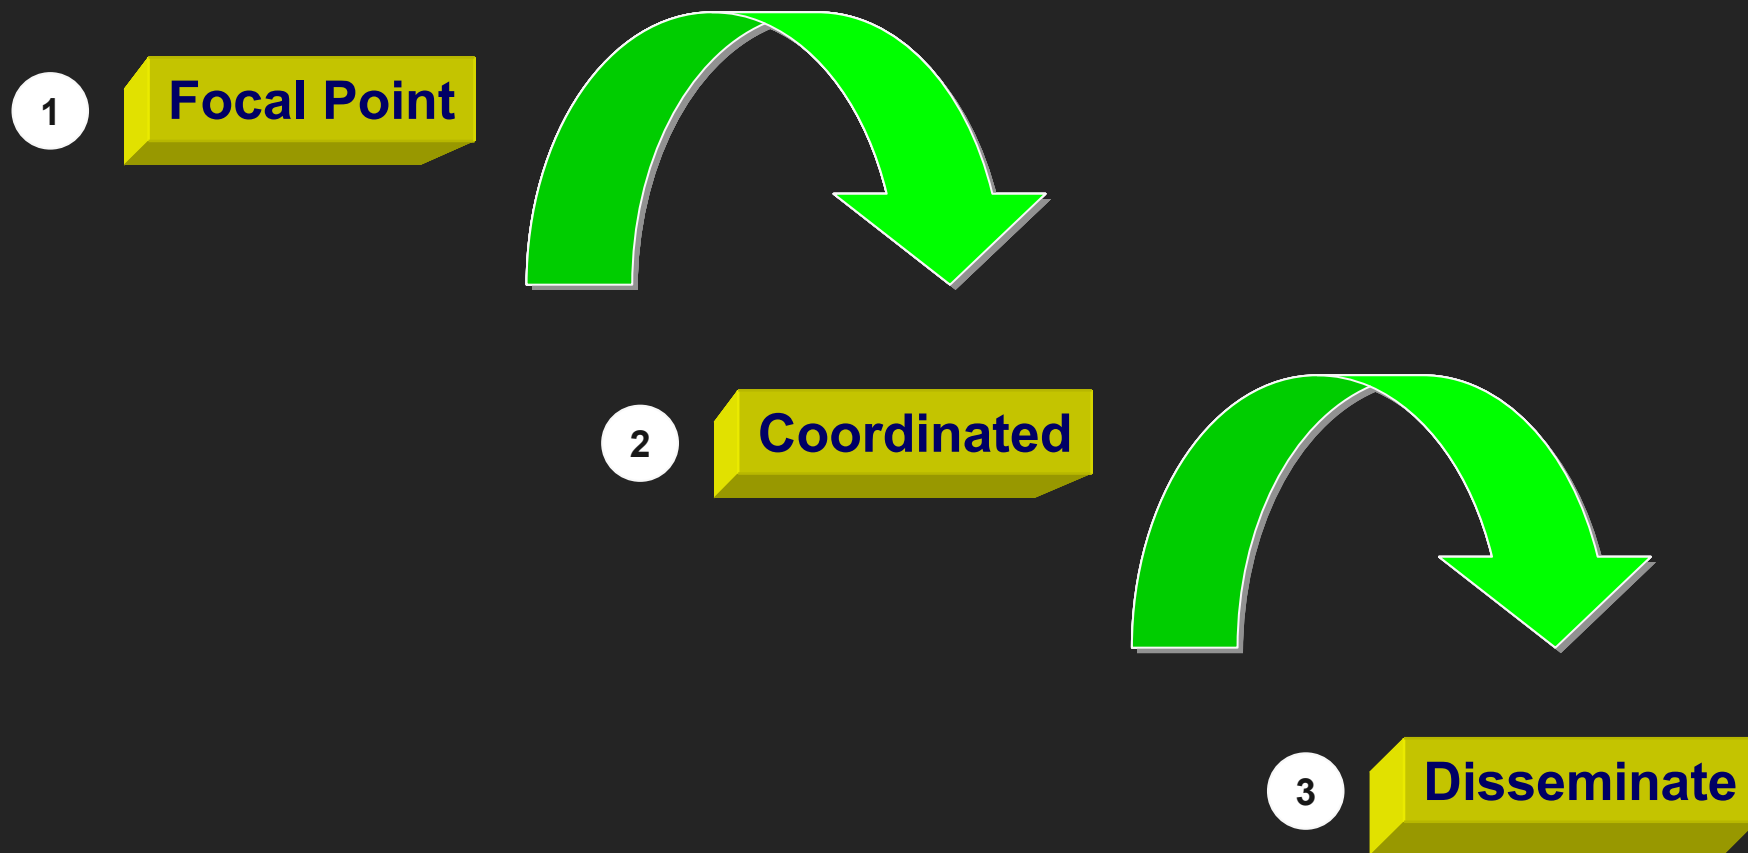

The Need for a Global Approach

- Many individual initiatives globally. Some are supported by government and some private.
- Most initiatives are country centric. Very few cross-border collaborations.
- Resources are limited and materials are duplicated.
- Cyber Threats are borderless. With the increasing number of cyber threats, greater collaboration and cooperation is need between nations.
- Initiatives can be consolidated. This will allow more countries to prepare and be more resilient towards cyber threats and attacks.

The Need for a Global Approach

How IMPACT can Operationalise the Global Initiative

1. IMPACT is the first global private-public initiative against Cyber Threats.
2. IMPACT brings together governments, industry leaders and cybersecurity experts to enhance the global community's capacity to prevent , defend & respond to cyber threats.
3. ITU's Global Cybersecurity Agenda is hosted at IMPACT

IMPACT's Four Pillars

Global Response Centre

Centre for Policy & International Cooperation

Centre for Training & Skills Development

Centre for Security Assurance & Research

IMPACT's HQ – Cyberjaya, Malaysia

IMPACT

INTERNATIONAL MULTILATERAL PARTNERSHIP AGAINST CYBER THREATS

Presented by: Philip Victor (Head, Communications & Outreach)

Topic: Children & Cyberspace: The Need for a Global Approach

Email: philip.victor@impact-alliance.org

Website: <http://www.impact-alliance.org>