Mobily launched its commercial services to the public on 25 May 2005 becoming the first Saudi 3G mobile operator. UAE's Etisalat owns 27.46 per cent of Mobily's shares, while the Saudi government and private investors own the remainder. In 2006, the GSM World Association described Mobily as the fastest growing operator in the MENA region. By Q2 2007, Mobily claimed a 39 % market share. In September 2008, Mobily bought Bayanat Al Oula, months after launching the first unlimited mobile Internet package that allows subscribers to connect at the highest speed in the MENA region.
