As spelt out in the strategic agenda for information society the adoption of information technologies for the establishment of information and knowledge society in Cape Verde is a strategic option for the country's development. Since the inception of information society initiative, many activities have been launched under the supervision of NOSI with positive impacts for businesses and citizens. Among the successes are integrated financial management and information system revamping the tax registry, integrated human resources database, payroll systems, reengineering of administrative processes to create one-stop shop window allowing for online certificates, establishing a business in a day, e-payments, online medical appointments, free wireless access to internet in public spaces.
