With operations in 50 countries and 68,000 employees, Thales is a global technology leader for the aerospace, space, defense, security and transportation markets. Thales has more than 25 years of experience in spectrum management, monitoring and radio surveillance. As a world leader, Thales always brings innovative solutions to regulatory authorities for optimized radiofrequency spectrum usage and adaptation to the constant evolution of radio communications. At ITU TELECOM WORLD 2009, Thales will reshape the notion of spectrum monitoring station and push the limits of operational mobility for spectrum monitoring by presenting the universal station: ESMERALDA XE.
