Convergenclatina is the main source of information in the Latin American and Caribbean telecommunications market. Convergencia Latina is a company with more than seven years of track experience, made up of the most specialized analysts and reporters in the region. We daily send our service to over 3,000 subscribers, and we keep a close contact with various bodies, executives and experts within companies in the telecom sector. The experience gathered has allowed us to develop several tools that thoroughly depict the setting of the sector, as well as the strategic position of the players involved.
